January Speaker

Brad Redmon is the founder and operator of Redmon Fly Fishing and an Elite Ambassador for Temple Fork Outfitters. He is an avid fly fisherman with a particular interest in small stream fishing; having spent much of his life in pursuit of trout in the Appalachian Mountains (NC, TN, WV, and VA) and Kentucky streams. When not guiding, fishing, or tying, Brad also works with EcoGro/Ridgewater as a Field Superintendent performing stream and wetland restoration. He has been fortunate enough to couple his passion for fly fishing, entomology, knowledge of streams and hydrodynamics with his Environmental Science education. Brad also served as Project Superintendent and assisted in the design and lead construction of Hatchery Creek, which gave him the unique opportunity to meld his perspective on a trout's ecosystem with his career. He has a particular interest in teaching the technical skills required for successful angling and currently offers guided trips on Hatchery Creek and other small streams around the state. One of Brad's true passions is to help others become better anglers.

He will be speaking about stream restoration.

President's Thoughts ...

Greetings fellow fly fishers,

What a year we had in 2019! The club's new website is up and running. The non-profit changes have been completed. Several advances have been made with youth programs. Many awesome trips with great memories are now in the past. Sam Brown has left the club in great shape. I hope I can do half the job he did this year.

I would like to welcome JD Dukes to the board as our new Vice President, thank Kathy Williams for stepping up and running for Treasurer again, and let Karen Via know what a great job she does as our Secretary. My goal is to keep the club moving in a positive direction. With great people like this behind me how can I not succeed this year?

New hats will be available at the January meeting for a $20.00 donation. There will be 5 colors to choose from in limited quantities. Also considering tee shirts if there is enough interest.

There is an opportunity for a club trip to the Yellowstone area. Boy Scout camp Buffalo Bill in Wyoming has decided to open up to fly fishing groups in August. NKFF took the trip last year and have booked the second week already. In talking with Tim Guilfoile from NKFF it sounds like it is a great place to fish for wild browns, rainbows, brookies, and native cutthroat. More info at January's meeting.

Fly tying classes still have room if anyone is

Casting Competition Winners & Other News

The annual winners of the casting competition have been tabulated, at long last. Two of the trophies were presented at the December meeting, but one of the winners was not able to join us that evening.

The winner in First Flight was Nathaniel Crossman. Given his score this year and his booming distance casts, the Seniors Division folks had better watch out in 2020!

The Seniors Division winner was yours truly, Ken Davy. This was almost entirely due to persistence rather than quality, since I was the only member of the division to cast in all five contests.

The Masters Division winner, and well-deserved, was Ken Hudak. His big move was in the roll cast, scoring a 98 while using only 8 casts, to yield a bonus of 14 points. Those extra points came in handy at the end as he shaded his nearest competitor by only six points. Hopefully, Ken will be able to make the January meeting and receive this big, beautiful trophy.

Going into 2020 Mr. Bob Zitney will be taking on the role of casting competition leader. I appreciate him setting me free to pursue the other things I do for the club. Things will go much more smoothly if someone will step up to help him out over there.

One other item to consider is that the casting competition could use some more flies. We are running short of nymphs, dries and bass bugs, so the next time you're at the vise, tie one or two extras for Bob to use for the competitions. Just remember that, when it comes to the casting competitions, the only point is to have fun, so please cut the points off the flies you donate to Bob.

Facebook Events Page

Beginning this week, I will be renewing my efforts to keep the events page up to date. If you have events you want the club to know about and participate in, please get them to me on the Facebook page or send them to tiggr75@gmail.com.

Notes from the Library

January 2020

We are by the nature of our pursuit of fishing careful of the environment in which they live. We even endeavor in creating artificial flies to imitate "the hatch" meaning that not only the waters that the fish swim in, but the air above, the plants around all are in our purview for a healthy and sustainable environ. There was acknowledgement in the last Notes of the improvement of the water quality of Ohio streams and rivers (Wild Ohio magazine). From the North and South branches of Paint Creek to the Little and Great Miami, the Stillwater, the Mad, and more. All benefit from our support of the ODNR through license fees, legislation controlling industrial and communal waste, and involvement in organizations that volunteer time and monies to supplement ODNR's efforts. MVFF annually is involved in schools, Five Rivers MetroParks events, and sister organizations to insure generational efforts in sustainability. ODNR Division of Wildlife, Fisheries Management..." manages the fisheries of 124,000 acres of inland water, 7,000 miles of streams, 2 ¼ million acres of Lake Erie and Ohio's portion of 481 miles of the Ohio River. For the benefit of 2 million anglers [by license] and other resource users...". Each body of water, lake, stream, or river requires its own management plan and cadre. Information is available through the ODNR website on each body of water with links to supporting data and literature. If you have a favorite website or Podcast about the care and management of Ohio waters please share it through the Library. Our passion is also our pride.

January Fly of the Month

Little Green Stonefly

Recipe

Hook.....Dry, size 14 - 18

Thread.....Lt Green 8/0

Body.....Fine and Dry Brite Green Dubbing

Wing.....Creme or Transparent Swiss Straw

Hackle.....Creme or White Cock Hackle

1. Flatten barb on hook and put it in your vise. Tie in the thread behind the hook eye and wrap it back to the start of the hook bend, laying down a good thread base.

2. Lightly dub the thread and wrap it back toward the hook eye covering a little more than 2/3 of the hook shank and forming a slim body. Remove excess dubbing.

3. Spread out and flatten the Swiss straw and cut or burn two stonefly wings, sized for your hook. Tie in the wings at the front of the body, keeping them flat along the back of the body. Trim off excess wing material.

4. Tie in the hackle at the end of the wing tie-in point and make 3-4 tight touching turns to right behind the eye. Tie off the hackle and remove the excess.

5. Form a neat small thread head, whip finish, and cut the thread.

6. Apply a small drop of head cement, if desired.

Comment: The Little Green Stonefly hatches from early June to October, with the best times being in July and August. During the evenings, the females return to the water to lay their eggs and it is at this time that this fly is most effective.

MVFF Mentoring Program

Just a reminder that MVFF offers a mentor service for any new, or established, members who would like help with becoming more involved in the club or assistance with some aspect of their fly fishing skills or knowledge. We have a number of members who have volunteered to serve as mentors, but we could always use more. Fly casting assistance is usually provided at our summer meetings at the FOP.

Text or call Phil Clay at (937) 206-3720 if you'd like to have a mentor or would like to become a mentor.

Progressive Cleveland Boat Show & Fishing Expo

This is the largest boat show Cleveland has seen in over a decade. And, the return of a Fishing Expo that left Cleveland a long time ago. With the all new Fishing Expo this year over 50K visitors are expected over the 5 day show. The show runs January 16-20, 2020.

There will be a 5,000 gallon Berkley Tank, Trout Pond, Casting Lake, Kayak Stage and more! The goal is to inspire people to get out on the water, whether that is with a kayak, and paddleboard, or a large cruiser. This show will have it all.

Not sure there will be much for the fly fisher, but check out the website to see if there is anything that interests you - <http://www.clevelandboatshow.com/>

Women's Fly Fishing Open Forum at the Greater Cincinnati Fly Fishing Show

Our own Paul Smith will be part of the panel. Women have been playing prominent roles in MVFF for a number of years and there has been an upward trend in their participation in this sport.

Although it is still the case that fly fishing is male-dominated, more women are becoming interested in the sport. One of the barriers to women joining the contingent of fly fishers is lack of knowledge.

Because many women are more comfortable learning this new sport from and with other women, women across the U.S. are organizing retreats, outings, educational seminars, youth outreach programs and other events to build a community of women anglers.

Join us for a panel discussion on the future of women anglers in the SW Ohio/NKY area at the Greater Cincinnati Fly Fishing Show this February 1st, 2020 from 1:00-2:00 p.m. Paula Smith, MVFF Past President, will be there representing MVFF on the panel. Joining her will be Cari Vota, BUFF Director Women's Program, Katie Johnstone, TU Madmen DI/WI Coordinator, and Kerry Premec, NKFF Women's Outreach Director.

Be a part of a women-centered conversation on a range of topics for and about women anglers in our area. Ask questions, network, swap stories with other anglers and fly fishing enthusiasts. Each of these outstanding women will briefly tell the group a little about their club, mission, events/activities, and why they fly fish. There will be handout too – club brochures, membership forms, 2020 calendars of events, any women's activities – planned or future, etc.

Tying Classes at BUFF Show

Associated with the 2020 Greater Cincinnati Fly Fishing Show (Saturday, February 1, 2020), Buckeye United Fly Fishers are offering a total of four 2-hour Fly Tying Workshops on Thursday, January 30th, and Friday, January 31st. On Thursday, Mike Schmidt, owner of Angler's Choice Flies, will be leading two workshops (2:00 – 4:00 p.m. & 4:30 – 6:30 p.m.), tying a mixture of his signature flies and new patterns. On Friday, Gary Borger, the feature presenter for the Fly Show, will be leading 2 tying workshops (1:30 - 3:30 p.m., and 4:00 – 6:00 p.m.). Each workshop will have a maximum capacity of 24 tiers and will be held in Room Sandalwood "C" at the Oasis Conference Center (site of the Fly Show).

These workshops are open to members of all regional fly fishing clubs. Details of the workshops as well as on-line registration and payment can be found at:

<http://buckeyeflyfishers.com/expo2020/clinhome.asp>

Note that Gary Borger is also holding a casting workshop on Friday morning from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m., but, at this time, the workshop is full. You can sign up for the "Waitlist" but will not be able to attend unless notified of an opening prior to the Workshop.
