HELP! We need someone to step up and help the club with two things. One we need a new refreshment person or persons to bring coffee and cookies to the meetings, second we need someone to open the church and help set up for the meeting. Please if you can help even on a part time basis let us know.

A GUIDE'S APPROACH TO WATER – JAMES GARRETTSON

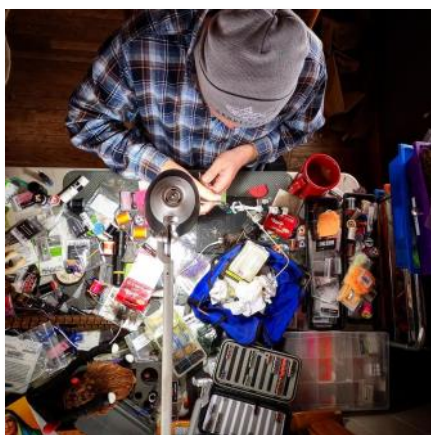

Our February speaker, James Garrettson, a fresh young face on the speaker circuit, will share his approach to the many variables he faces on every guiding day.

Weather, river flow, hatches and angler skill level all play a part in the intricate back story. James' home waters around Taos, New Mexico provide a stunning backdrop to this narrative and a reminder that this State has been overlooked in previous speaker programs.

James is a keen advocate of the latest Euro nymphing techniques and an Ambassador the Fulfilling Mill Company.

An accomplished fly tier, he will be tying flies before the meeting.

In the world of fly fishing we often hear confusing slogans such as "Think like the fish" or "Be the fly." The best advice might be "Think like a guide."

How often have we wondered what thoughts run through the minds of professional guides as they face the challenge of giving us a memorable day on the river?

Garret's program explores the guide/client partnership with many helpful tips to prepare us for future outings.

BIO - James is a full-time fishing guide and a part time astro-physicist (not really)! Originally from Northern Virginia, James started fly fishing at age 11 and never looked back. His unbridled enthusiasm for the sport landed him a job at Orvis before he could drive. After bouncing around the East Coast, Montana, Costa Rica, and the Pacific Northwest, James has finally planted roots in Northern New Mexico. When not spending quality time with his family or taking fishing tips from his 3-year-old daughter, James can be found on the vise or taking advantage of the Southwest's myriad of fishing opportunities. Apart from guiding, James enjoys writing, photography, Competitive ribbon dancing, and speaking at shops and clubs near and far. Catching fish is also very much enjoyed.

Jan 10, 2020

Steelhead Habitat Restoration—Day #2 Volunteers on the second and final planting day for Sespe Fly Fisher's Steelhead Habitat Restoration Project got the job done! Although the photo on right could be misleading (an awful lot of shovel leaning) in fact, all volunteers worked hard to complete the planting of a total (for both days) of 20 Coastal Live Oaks, and 134 native shrubs as companion plants.

Randy Nelson worked both days, and as many of you know, spent a long time writing and rewriting the $1500 Grant from Fly Fishers International for Steelhead Habitat Restoration, with support and assistance from the Southwest Council of FFI to get the grant submitted and approved.

With a little encouragement from Sespe Fly Fisher members, there might be some hope for him to try again for a grant in 2020 as this is a historically strong and important club project, inspired by Yvon Chouinard's lifelong commitment to the

FISHING REPORT — EASTERN SIERRAS

Winter Fishing for Wild Trout

By Steve Schalla

We set out with great expectations on our first Sespe outing of the New Year! Our group, Mike Toomey, Lee White, Earl and Anne Arnold, Mike Ogden, Thad Skypien, and I all met in Bishop on Friday, Jan 24th.

We had anticipated fishing the Buckley Ponds, but found out that they were frozen over, so we took a quick trip to the Wild Trout section of the Lower Owens. Always important to be flexible when Fishing!

At the Lower Owens, Fishing was pretty slow for us but the weather was warm and the wind was low. Later, while enjoying a great dinner at the Bishop Bowling Alley, we met up with guide Pat Jaeger, a recent speaker at our club, for a quick visit.

The next day we fished Hot Creek. Another beautiful day also brought a number of fly fishers as the creek had plenty of activity yet the fishing remained slow. A couple of our party (Mike Toomey and Ann Bull) caught brown trout. Lee White and I fished the interpretive section below the hatchery and encountered many rainbows but only had a few strikes as they appeared to be spawning.

On Sunday a front began moving through and snow squalls kept us from fishing the Upper Owens, so we returned to the Wild Trout section. The water flow had increased from Saturday to Sunday on the Lower Owens but was still manageable. Great conditions again at the Wild Trout waters with temps in the high 50's and low wind. There were a lot of fly fishermen, maybe over twenty on that 1/2 mile stretch, yet fishing remained slow all around.

Earl Arnold was able to bring in another Brown. The Kern River Fly Fishers were there as well and had similar results but 1 member managed to hook into 5 trout that morning. We were left to ponder what the heck that guy did that we didn't. That's the way fishing can be ... well, fishing is great, but sometimes the hooking is slow.

Still there are always friends to laugh with and new things to learn. I think we all returned home with smiles on our faces so it was a good trip!

BUILDING A BAMBOO ROD, PT. 3

Scraping, Sanding, Planing and (a little) Complaining

Tom Hall, Doug Treutelaar , Lee White, Randy Nelson, Tom Hall and I, with support from Bill Loehr and Steve Schalla, have now moved from working on rod butts to tips! We each have 12 tip strips, designed to make two rod tips eventually so that we will have a spare.

The process of scraping the enamel side of the bamboo, then sanding, and then planing each strip into a thin, tapered equilateral triangle shape has begun again, but this time it's much more delicate work.

Planing can be tedious so some light-hearted complaining livens things up (these guys can be pretty funny!). Most of the time is pretty quiet though, as it's very easy to get out of alignment and even easier to break a strip, because once planed they are thin as twigs.

We all got a morale boost when Bill Loehr brought out some samples of reel seats, cork grips, ferules, guides and thread so he could order what we need to finish our rods.

FIRST SATURDAY CASTING

CASTING THE FLY ROD | AN INTRODUCTION TO FLY FISHING

SFF First Saturday Casting in 2020 will be on March 7th

Nearly always the first Saturday of the month!

• 9:00 – 11:00 AM

• Chumash Park, Petit and Waco, in East Ventura (off Telephone Rd).

As usual, this is open to everyone interested in learning and becoming a better caster or learning how to flyfish. Bring your friends, buddies, family and of course your mother-in-law (she will probably out cast you). Please help spread the word!

If you haven't tried it yet, here is your chance to prepare for the new FFI "Casting Skills Challenge". And what's in it for me you ask? Well, it's not only fun but you will become a better caster and fisher as a result of mastering the skill challenges, and you can do it at your own pace and receive a certificate for each level you pass and recognition from Fly Fishers International. There are three levels, Bronze, Silver and Gold. Learn all about the Casting Skills Challenge at: <https://flyfishersinternational.org/Education/Learning-Center/Casting>.

Bring your favorite rod and come on out! There will be an introductory class on fly fishing and casting for others in our community interested in learning about our great sport so please pass the word and let people know of our outing and invite them to join us.

If you have any suggestions as to how we might make our "First Saturday" outings better, in any way, please don't hesitate to share your

Guides Choice Nymph

01/23/2020

Back in the day, my go-to nymph was a Gold Ribbed Hares Ear Nymph and that was pretty much the case through the 1960's, 70's and mid-way through the 80's. Then in the late 80's I was fishing the lower Sacramento River with some minor success with a hare's ear. The guide handed me one of these nymphs and said try this and the rest of the day we caught and released so many trout that I lost count. Since, that day, this has been my go-to nymph. This pattern is like a hopped up Gold Ribbed Hare's Ear on steroids. You have to give this fly a try, you won't be sorry.

Fly Ingredients:

Hook: Size #16, #14, #12 Nymph Hook

Thread: 6/0 Brown or Red Thread

Bead: Gold Bead to Fit

Weight: Lead Wire

Wing Case: Pearl or Iridescent Flashabou

Legs: Partridge or Hen Back

Thorax: Peacock Herl

Body: Hare's Ear Blended

Tail: Hare's Mask Fur

Ribbing: Gold Wire

Tying Instructions:

- .Slide the bead on the hook and then insert in to the vise.
- .Push the bead up behind the hook eye and then put 5 to 6 wraps of lead wire up against the bead.
- .Cover lead wire and hook shank with thread and then position thread on hook shank at the start of the bend.
- .Cut a piece of hare's mask fur with guard hairs, about the width of the hook gap, and secure to hook to form the tail.
- .Tie in and secure the gold wire above the hook bend where the tailed was tied off.
- .Now start dubbing hare's ear fur from the tail to about 2/3 of remaining hook shank (remember to taper the body as your dubbing and wrapping), and tie off.
- .Wrap gold wire through dubbed body and tie off.
- .Now, where the dubbing ended, tie in a piece of flashabou, for the wing case, and fold back out of the way.
- .Tie in 3 or 4 strands of peacock herl by the tips, twist them around the thread for a more secure wrap, and then wrap up to the bead and tie off and clip.
- .Pull over flashabou wing case and tie off and clip.
- .Tie in a partridge or hen back hackle feather by the tips, curved side down, and stroke fibers towards the tail, making a nice full wrap, tie off and clip excess (make sure that that all of the hackle fibers are stroked back).
- .If you used red thread, form a thin band of thread behind the bead, whip finish and apply head cement, and you're done.
- .If you used brown thread, tie off and clip and then tie in red thread and form a thin band of thread behind the bead, whip finish and apply head cement, and you're done.
